THE ART OF BESPOKE CRAFTSMANSHIP

All too often these days, it is mass production, fashion and ever-changing ideas that dictate the way things are made.

There is little room for the hand and eye of the craftsman; little place for natural materials; not much time for the care skills of the artisan to create a thing of beauty.

So it is reassuring to know that you can still find independent manufacturing companies, dedicated to the traditional British ideals of quality and craftsmanship found in a bygone era.

We at The Handmade Bed Company are imbued with this tradition and take a great pride in it. British craftsmanship in furniture is still renowned throughout the world.

THE ART OF BESPOKE CRAFTSMANSHIP

It is sought after in many a fine home, chateau and palace as a mark of distinction and a source of quiet personal pride to those who fully appreciate the beauty and unashamed luxury of hand-crafted furniture.

You will find these same ideals brought to the fore today in the manufacture of our hand-crafted beds. From the start, we only use the finest natural materials that money can buy.

From the handnesting of our individual pocketed springs, to our natural upholstery of sumptuous pashmina, soft silk and pure new lambswool - every stage in the making of our beds must meet our exacting standards of timeless quality.

Today, with the return of good craftsmanship growing, the demand for true quality is reasserting itself. Yet comparatively few people will ever experience the luxury of sleeping in one of our hand-made beds, as the skills required in making these hand-crafted beds quite naturally necessitate a limit to the number we can produce.

Your Handmade Bed should therefore be treasured as an investment, not only for its inherent quality, but also for the luxurious comfort you will enjoy - thanks to the complete support given by the independent springs which aid sound restful support... allowing you to awaken relaxed and refreshed.

NATURAL SLEEP

All of The Handmade Bed Company beds are traditionally upholstered using only the finest natural fillings.

By using natural fillings such as British wool, silk, cashmere and cotton in our mattresses, we create a mattress which is truly sumptuous and luxurious.

With the return of good craftsmanship growing, the demand for true quality is becoming more popular.

Your Handmade Bed Company mattress should therefore be treasured as an investment, not only for its inherent quality, but also for the luxurious comfort you will enjoy - allowing you to awaken relaxed and refreshed.

SLEEP AS NATURE INTENDED

Sleeping soundly requires peace of mind and if you are sleeping on a Handmade Bed Company mattress you can rest easy knowing that we have an environmentally responsible approach to the sourcing and the sustainability of our raw materials.

Our fabrics and fillings come from sustainable sources, such as cotton grown sustainably in the USA and locally sourced wool. Our environmentally-friendly approach means we use a fully biological solution to treat mattress tickings to meet flame retardant standards.

Lie back and relax, reassured that in this 'throw away' world we live in, a Handmade Bed Company mattress has been lovingly hand made to last 10 years or more.
